Finance

The fiscal status report shows the budget is on track. After discussion about the interest rate that we are getting at NC Capital Management, the board approved moving the money to gain more interest. Bridgette Helms will check area banks to find the best rate and then will move the money ($25,000).

Public Safety

Police Report was read.

The "Read with a Cop" program has started back up for the kindergarten class at Stanfield Elementary School. The top 3 readers will receive a day pass for West Stanly Swim Club for them and their families. All the children that participate will receive a coupon for a free slushy at Stanfield Mini Mart.

Detective Corie Faggart has created a Stanfield Police Department Facebook page.

Commissioner James Griffin read a letter from a father expressing appreciation for the professional and kind way Officer Brian Cornett treated his daughter and others involved during a recent incident in town and recognized Officer Brian Cornett for his work.

Commissioner James Griffin presented a NC JA Criminal Investigation Certificate Program plaque to Chief Anthony Beaver. This program is designed to recognize candidates who have completed appropriate training in order to better prepare themselves for the rigors and challenges of law enforcement criminal investigations. This program requires 500 class hours of North Carolina Justice Academy sponsored courses.
